

DEPARTURES

16 Luxury Spring Break Trips Perfect for the Whole Family

From Montana and Colorado to the Italian coast, take your family somewhere they won't expect this spring break.

By March, the excitement of the New Year has long since dissipated and the monotony of winter has your entire family itching to get away for a week. When sifting through family spring break ideas, you want to choose a destination where you can bond with your kids and reconnect with your partner at the same time. Traveling with children, whether they're toddlers or teens, encourages shared memories and experiences. And beyond creating unforgettable moments as a family, it's a way to instill curiosity about the world in your children. Whether your crew is into snow sports, guided bike adventures, urban exploring, or building sandcastles on sun-soaked beaches, here are 16 family spring break ideas that promise fun for travelers of all ages.

Off the Mainland Without a Passport

San Juan heaves with beautifully restored colonial buildings lining plazas and parks, and nearby Condado District delivers a retro vibe that's a little louche Miami, a little sophisticated Spain. Park your brood in a two-bedroom suite at the Condado Vanderbilt, an American Express Fine Hotels & Resorts property and an oceanfront oasis with four pools and seven dining venues. Bonding is easy during walks in nearby El Yunque, one of the last remaining rainforests in North America, followed by refreshing dips in the Atlantic. The Condado Vanderbilt's suites come with 24-hour butler service and 1,000-square-feet of private outdoor space.